A rush of legal advertising, coming in at the last moment, curtails our reading matter space and renders the REGISTER a few hours late in being printed this week. We ask the indulgence of our kind readers and will endeavor to make amends in the future.

George Blue and wife, who have been living in St. Louis for several months, returned to Ironton last month and will make their home on what is known as the "Nelson place" between Pilot Knob and Graniteville. George expects to work at the Quarry.

The thermometer Monday mounted to 79—the high record so far, for the present year. By Tuesday morning the mercury dropped to 47—a change of 32 degrees. Another one of those decided changes in temperature for which the present winter has become famous.

The Bellevue, Thorn Grove, Cedar Grove, Elm Grove, Brale and Reed Creek school districts will hold a special election at Bellevue March 17th to vote on a proposition to consolidate the six districts for the purpose of maintaining a central high school at some point in the district. The contest promises to be a spirited one.

Dr. and Mrs. R. T. Minor of Lesterville returned home from Virginia, Monday, where they had been spending their honeymoon since their marriage in St. Louis, recently. The Outlook joins with their host of friends in welcoming them back home.—Reynolds County Outlook.

The REGISTER this week prints the announcement of Mr. Chas. F. Hanson as a candidate for Collector of the City of Ironton, subject to the action of the voters at the City Election, April 3d. Mr. Hanson has held this office for the past year or more and has made a most excellent record therewith. He will collect the taxes if he can be collected. He asks kindly consideration of his claims.

Paul P. Rosentreter and son, John, went to St. Louis Monday of last week to drive a couple of new Chevrolet cars to the valley. They cleared the city all right with the cars, but shortly after getting over the Meramec river, twenty miles this side of St. Louis, John ran the car he was driving into a tree, almost demolishing it. They telephoned to the factory to come and pick up the broken car, and Mr. Rosentreter and John came on home in the other car. Pretty hard luck. Let's hope more happy sailing next trip.

While coming home from St. Louis on the Sunshine Special Monday night we met Mr. A. J. Sheahan, president of the A. J. Sheahan Granite Company at Graniteville. Mr. Sheahan told us that his company recently bought a second hand motor locomotive from the Iron Mountain people, paying therefor $2,500. It will be used on the Granite Company's road from the quarries to the Iron Mountain road, the locomotive they have used for several years past being out of commission until extensive repairs are made. Then the new engine is made. Then the new engine is made. Then the new engine is made.

John Mayes, the lively man, and George Anderson are in a dispute relative to a horse. Last September Anderson took a horse belonging to Mayes to the west end of the county and traded him for another horse. Anderson says that when he returned to Ironton and delivered to Mayes the horse he had traded for the latter was well pleased and expressed his satisfaction. A month later Mayes became dissatisfied and said he wanted his old horse back, threatening to replevin and saying Anderson had no authority to trade for him. A couple of weeks ago Mayes made a trip to the west end to try to get back his former horse but failed. Anderson insists he made the trade with full authority from Mayes. And so the matter stands. No lawing yet, but some threats.

Some few days ago a couple of young men fishing in Big Creek, below Sabula, found the mail truck which was washed from the trail back driven by Louis Barton, when he attempted to cross that stream which was up something over a year ago. In the pouch was $65 in currency which W. H. Clements, postmaster at Black, was remitting to the post office department. When found, the money was in perfect condition, and the other mail in fairly good condition except for the loss of a few letters, which were washed from the mail pouch and made a nest out of a portion of one bundle of letters. At the time this mail was lost the driver and his team together with three passengers, viz: H. R. Taylor of this place and Mrs. Everett Lester and little daughter of Lesterville came very near drowning.—Reynolds County Outlook.

"Old man Cain," with his yoke of oxen, was a familiar sight in the valley several years ago when he made his home at Pilot Knob. The following is taken from last week's Bismarck Gazette: "Word reached this city Wednesday morning that Elie Cain, who resided on the Iron Mountain claim, had died the evening before. He was aged 87 years, 8 months and 19 days. An inquest was held Wednesday afternoon by Dr. Appleberry of Bellevue and the verdict was "Death, caused by old age." Some of Cain's neighbors stated that he had been sick for several weeks, but had refused to have any medical attention. Little is known about the life of Cain or his family, as they lived a life of seclusion, away from town only when they needed supplies. They have resided on the Iron Mountain claim for several years. He lived the life of 75 years ago, and his mode of travel was with a yoke of oxen. The funeral was held Thursday afternoon. Interment was in the Odd Fellows cemetery."

The REGISTER gives place with pleasure to the following article, taken from the Pangburn (Ark.) News. Mr. Fitz was reared in Iron County and is possessed of a wide circle of warm friends in this section: "Harry Churchill, who established the Pangburn State Bank here in 1911, and who has served as president of the institution ever since, and Chas. McKee, vice-president, and W. D. Ellis, a stockholder, have sold their stock to St. Louis parties connected with the Mechanics American National Bank of that city and as a result will not be identified with the bank longer. Some of the other stockholders have sold their shares, while others, like R. L. Blackshore, present cashier of the bank. E. W. Fitz of Searay and J. F. Berard, Jr. of St. Louis have also acquired considerable stock in the bank. The changes have necessitated the selection of a president and vice-president, and Mr. Fitz was made president and Mr. Berard vice-president. R. L. Blackshore was retained as cashier. Mr. Fitz is a representative of the Western Live & Lumber Company of St. Louis and will remain as such, but will be here often to look after the interests of the bank. Mr. Berard is identified with the Mechanics American National Bank of St. Louis and will continue to reside there. While we regret to lose our good citizen, Mr. Churchill, from the head of our bank, we are glad to turn the presidency over to a man whom the people have the utmost confidence in. The change will place strong financial backing behind the bank and no doubt all reasonable demands on it will be taken care of. We bespeak for the institution success."

The Lutheran Church. Divine services at the Lutheran Church of Pilot Knob next Sunday, March 4, will be as follows: Morning School at 9:30 P. M. Sermon (English) at 10:30 P. M. School Notes.

The boys of the Ironton Schools have formed an Athletic Association and are practicing for the base ball season, and the Iron County Field Meet, to be held in April. The fees of the Association are $1.00 per year, and qualification for membership is a grade of medium, or better, in school work. The Association has rented St. Paul's Athletic Park and there will be some good base ball games when the season opens. It is hoped that this enterprise will receive the liberal patronage which it deserves. Superintendent Shoop and Mr. McKinney will conduct a six weeks' summer term for the purpose of reviewing county teachers in the common school branches. The seniors are working on their play "What Became of Parker," which they are planning to give in about three weeks.

From Near Acadia Heights.

Since my last letter to the REGISTER, nothing of particular interest has occurred in this immediate vicinity. It is said that work will begin early this coming spring, in the way of making preparation preparatory to the opening of the Baptist Assembly in August. No value, however, will be spared this year that will help to make one of the best (if not the best) meetings of the kind ever held in the ever famous Ozarks. Of course, this prediction is somewhat previous, but watch and see! It is reported that George Hartwick has rented the Jesse M. Hawkins farm, east of Ironton. This farm is now owned by a young man in St. Louis, but Mr. H. has charge of it for the present, at least. Rev. J. H. Calvert and wife visited Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Vance, Wednesday of last week. Mr. Fred Russell recently purchased from Mr. Maberry a good workhorse; consideration, we understand, was $150.

We notice that E. L. Cook and wife, of Ironton, made a trip to their mobile last Saturday en route to Farmington, visiting Mrs. Cook's parents. While in Ironton Saturday, we noticed that Miss Virginia Collins, primary teacher in the Roselle school, was at home to spend Saturday and Sunday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. Collins. This is Miss Virginia's first term as teacher, but she is proving herself to be a young class teacher. The writer is in receipt of a letter from the Superintendent of the Department Store, St. Louis, where I worked as clerk October last, calling me back again. But I do not think I shall at present accept the offer, for since I left St. Louis, November 1, 1916, I have gained in weight exactly twenty-three pounds. Life in the country in the Ozarks is too sweet to exchange for the city.

Recently your writer accepted an invitation from Mr. S. B. Cook, of Roselle, Mo., to "stay over night" with him. Now, since Mr. and Mrs. Cook both know how to make one feel at home, it is needless to say that I very much enjoyed my visit. They have a model family, under perfect control. Archibald Cook, the eldest son, who attends the Ironton High School last year, is in Farmington, Mo., where he has been since September last, taking a thorough business course. He expects to graduate in June next. We believe and trust he will be successful in getting a good position when he graduates.

It appears that the condition of things in the war zone is yet very serious, and the future very problematical. How much longer we can keep out of the impending danger is a question that only God definitely knows. But yet we are not without hope. "Bail on, O Union, strong and great! Humanity with all its fears, With all the hopes of future years, Is hanging breathless on its fate! Our hearts, our hopes, our prayers, our tears, Our faith triumphant o'er our fears, Are all with thee—are all with thee."

Valley Enthusiasm.

On Monday, February 19th, there arrived in the Valley from Bismarck, two pedestrians whose sole object was to borrow some of the Valley's beauty.

They were hardly prepared for so boundless a store! Since their arrival and thoroughly delightful stay at one of the Miller bungalows, Miss Harris and Miss Reiman have become more and more enchanted, until finally their enthusiasm seems expression. Accordingly, on Thursday, March 1st, these enthusiasts look forward to entertaining as many of the Valley's people as are lovers of dramatic readings, dialect songs, Hawaiian music and—plain old American fun. The following programme will be given:

1. Opening Overture.
2. Reading—Miss Reiman.
3. Vocal Selection—Miss Harris.
4. Story telling—Miss Harris.
5. Piano Solo—Miss Reiman.
6. Vocal Solo—Miss Harris.
7. Dialect Song—Miss Reiman.
8. Reading—Miss Harris.
9. Vocal Duet—Misses Harris and Reiman.
10. Ukulele Demonstration—Misses Reiman and Harris.

FOR SALE—Two Jersey Heifers, one year old. W. CURRY, Acadia, Mo.

We are having fine weather. Hope the winter is gone. I was down in Charleston and Sikeston last week. Wheat is looking very poor. The Agricultural Department sent an expert down there. He says the roots are all right and the wheat will come out, but some of the farmers are plowing up wheat and laying off watermelon rows. I was at Lilbourne. Dr. Ed Jones was sick with la grippe. I made a big run on future last week. I sold 136,820 lbs. Merchants are laying in a supply on account of the high price of hogs, which is 13 cents gross.

The St. Louis Republic says that prohibition of cigarettes is abroad in the land. The sale of cigarettes has been prohibited in some states and bills have been introduced in the legislatures in several states to forbid cigarette smoking in public places. The Kansas officials are co-operating in an effort to enforce the new "home day" law. Police are on guard on the state line to prevent the importation of liquor into Kansas.

Our public schools celebrated Washington's birthday Thursday. The parade was fine, as they marched in a body, headed by George Washington, in his uniform, carrying an American flag. Characters of the Colonial days were represented. Each child carried a flag and especially were the little girls very sweet in their Martha Washington dresses and bonnets. It thrilled the hearts of the patriots to see our boys and girls so enthusiastic in celebrating the birthday of George Washington. They rendered a program Friday afternoon which was enjoyed very much by all the visitors. Rev. A. L. Darter filled his regular appointment at the M. E. Church Sunday.

Ironton News.

This Case Has a Hint for Many Register Readers.

An Ironton woman has used Doan's Kidney Pills.

She has found them as represented. She wishes her neighbors to know. She publicly recommends them. No need to look further for a tested kidney remedy.

The proof of merit is here and can be investigated. Profit by Mrs. Rust's statement. Mrs. Anderson Rust, Ironton, says: "I had weak kidneys and my back ached and pained. I felt tired and run down and often had headaches and dizzy spells. My kidneys acted irregularly too. Finally I used Doan's Kidney Pills that I got from the Acadia Valley Drug Co. They rid me of the backache and put my kidneys good, working order."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Rust had. Foster-McMillan Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.—Adv.

Rocks Formed from Animals and Plants.

It is a commonplace of geology that many rocks were built up from the remains of plants or animals. Thus great beds of limestone were formed from shells or corals, which are still distinctly visible in the rock. Pure limestone consists of carbonate of lime, but there are magnesian limestones, phosphatic limestones, siliceous limestones, and other kinds. The shells or skeletons of the organisms that formed them consisted in great part of carbonate of lime, but some of them were magnesian, phosphatic, or siliceous. The problem of determining how much material each group of organisms has contributed to the marine sediments from which the rocks were formed is interesting and important, and that problem has been carefully studied by F. W. Clarke and W. C. Wheeler in the laboratory of the United States Geological Survey, of the Department of the Interior.

Mr. Wheeler made 250 chemical analyses of shells or skeletons of marine invertebrates, including the calcareous algae, the specimens comprising forms ranging from almost microscopic Foraminifera up to large crustaceans. The results are published by the Geological Survey in Professional Paper 102. The multilaminar shells and corals were found to consist of carbonate of lime, which contained only trifling impurities, and some groups of organisms that made smaller contributions to the sediments consist largely of the same material. These creatures, then, help to build the ordinary limestones. The Foraminifera, the beautiful corals known as sea fans, the echinoderms, which include the crinoids, sea urchins, and starfishes—are all rich in carbonate of magnesia, which they contribute to the magnesian limestones and dolomites. Phosphatic limestone or phosphatic rocks owe their phosphates in great part to brachiopods, annelids and crustaceans. Vertebrate skeletons, such as those of fishes, which are also highly phosphatic, add their phosphates to the sediments.

We now know more precisely than before the investigation began the part played by each group of organisms in the formation of marine limestones. The study of the sedimentary rocks has been distinctly advanced by the work reported in this paper. Professional Paper 102, which is highly technical, may be obtained from the Director, United States Geological Survey, Washington, D. C.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed, it is swollen, and shuts off the circulation of fluid from the middle ear. It is this condition that causes deafness. It is a serious condition, and if not treated, it will result in permanent deafness.
